

Freshmen

The freshman class: a group notorious for carrying too many books and getting lost. This year's freshmen have had their share of problems adjusting to the high school, but on the whole, find it more exciting than intimidating. The newness has worn off, and school has become the routine. As the year has progressed, the freshmen have grown comfortable with the school, and have come closer to attaining the casual manner and ease of Seniors. Still, not to be matched in spirit, the freshmen can be depended upon to attend almost any activity, from football games to dances. No matter what the situation, the freshmen will yell the loudest and jump the highest for their school.
