The 1986 varsity baseball team experienced a prosperous spring season. The 12-man squad was a highly competitive 6-9 in the brutal Gold Division of the Suburban Council. Their overall record of 10-11 included intersectional victories over Cooperstown High, by a score of 5-3 at Doubleday Field near the Baseball Hall of Fame, and Oneonta High, by a score of 16-3 at Pamaske Field in Oneonta.

Led by consistent Doug Pratt's .420 batting average, the Eagles rocked Suburban pitching to within one win of a berth in the Sectionals. The team's expanded schedule was highlighted by three night games at Schenectady's Central Park and one at East Field in Glens Falls. Members of the team included: Jeff Boyd, Mike Cornell, Paul Evangelista, Jim Francis, Tom Frazier, Mike Hodge, Geoff Mackey, Ed Perry, Doug Pratt, Pete Russo, Paul Stracke, and Josh Weinstein. The Eagles were coached by Ken Hodge.
